

DOCTOR REFUSES TO SAVE DEFORMED BABE BY USING THE KNIFE

"Let Nature Take Its Course" Surgeon's Solution For Child Doomed To Deformity And Imbecility

MOTHER CONSENTS TO SENTENCE

Yields In Sorrow While Critics Differ And Pastors Moot Problem Which A Few Hours Will Solve in Death

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Physicians, churchmen, social workers and prominent business men were generally included in the belief today that Dr. H. J. Haiselden, and the parents of a wee morsel of humanity that came into this world Friday, are right in not performing an operation on the baby that probably would save its life. Without the operation, the child will die.

When the baby came, Dr. Haiselden, chief of staff of the German-American hospital, told Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bollinger, their child was so badly malformed that he would die unless an operation were performed. Even with the operation, explained Dr. Haiselden, the little boy was certain to be a mental, and probably a moral defective, as well.

To Dr. Haiselden's decision that "nature" be allowed to take its course, the parents, who have three other children, all healthy youngsters, agreed.

The child's death is expected within twenty-four hours.

Mother Accepts Verdict

"I agreed with Dr. Haiselden to let my baby die," said Mrs. Anna Bollinger. "I loved the poor deformed little one. With tears and breaking heart, I gave my consent to its death. Left to itself it has no chance to live."

"No one need think me cruel or an unnatural mother. My heart is full of mother love for all my children. But this poor little one, if allowed to live, would be for years only a burden to itself. Its life would be dark, barren, useless, unrelieved by happiness to itself or pleasure or service to others. It is, as the doctor says, one of nature's blunders and I am willing that nature should correct its errors by my baby's death."

"I am satisfied that I am doing right. My husband thinks as I do."

"I suppose I shall be called a cold-blooded murderer," said Dr. Haiselden today. "I know there will be very bitter criticism, but the criticism will spring from sentiment alone. It is not as if the infant were to be deliberately killed. Of course, it is needless to say I would not countenance that."

"It is as impossible that this child could develop into anything but a subnormal and perhaps a dangerous individual, as it is that a human being can live without a heart. It would grow up a menacing burden to its parents, to its brothers and sisters, and to the state. Through its deformity the child would not be an individual. It would be merely a living thing whose deformity would make it a menace to itself."

"Nature has bungled in this instance. The mother had typhoid fever a short time ago, and this was the cause of the child's malformation. It was only because of the unusual vigor and natural health of the parents that the baby ever was born."

Dr. Haiselden said he does not believe there is any law that could force him to operate on the child. State's Attorney Macfarlane today agreed "as an individual." He said the only possible charge that could be brought might be one of neglect. Several lawyers expressed the opinion, however, that such a charge could be never be proven.

"I can't quite see how some of my critics have the face to oppose my theory," said Dr. Haiselden. "These same critics make no outcry over the scores of killings of children by automobiles, by abortions and by criminal neglect and violence of innumerable kinds. Still, they sit in judgment in this case, where a child has been born without one ear; the one ear it has never will hear, there being no auditory canal; the head is set deep into the shoulders without sign of neck. It would take the most delicate of operations to remove the abdominal organs to perform their functions."

"It is an act of mercy to let the baby die," said Rev. A. H. W. Anderson, rector of All Saints Episcopal church, when asked his opinion of Dr. Haiselden's decision not to operate on the infant Bollinger baby.

"If the baby had a normal brain it might survive physical deficiencies; but as it is, it is better never to let it know what life is."

Other comment follows: "If the child could be saved, it should be. If I were the child's mother, I should want it saved and made as normal as possible. Every one has a right to life."—Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton, noted feminist and social worker.

"I shouldn't want to sit in judgment either way. Life is a pretty precious thing."—Miss Harriet Vinton, Northwestern university settlement head.

"This child, as well as every other child, should be kept alive as long as possible. It is not for us to decide whether a child should be put to death. If it is a defective, it should be treated as such and be taught all it can learn. This thing is reprehensible under any circumstances. The law states that only a judge has the power to decide who shall die, and then only in case of crime."—Jane Addams, head of Hull House.

"I think the best thing for the child"

MOVE TO ADJOURN DELAYS DEFEAT OF MOORE RESOLUTION

County Institution Inspection Measure Is Close to Death in County Board Today

NO REPORT ON THE BUDGET

Committees Still Grinding at Work and Items of County Expense Are Not Settled

On a motion by Supervisor V. S. Keppel the county board this afternoon voted to hold an examination of the books of Clerk of Court Frank H. Aiken. There was no discussion. The committee to make the investigation will be appointed by Chairman R. W. Davis.

The Moore-Keppel proposal for an annual investigation of county institutions by all members of the county board was tabled this afternoon by a vote of 18 to 15.

A timely motion to adjourn by Supervisor Abel N. Moore this morning, saved his plan of inspection of all county institutions from defeat in the county board. The motion took precedent over the motion of Supervisor Adolph Nuttleman to table all resolutions pertaining to the inspection plan.

Resolutions, and amendments to resolutions, were hurled thick and fast while the plans of Supervisor Moore and Valentine S. Keppel swayed in the balance. Every loophole of both the attacking and defending sides was watched by the members for a way to victory, and Supervisor Moore only moved to adjourn when defeat seemed inevitable.

The resolutions of Messrs. Moore and Keppel were both referred to the ways and means committee when presented to the board early this week. One plan was for the supervisors to go separately to the county institutions.

Amalgamate Plans
The amalgamated plan of the ways and means committee, presented this morning did not make it compulsory for the members to visit the institutions, although it authorized them to do so at their own desire. The final resolution only allowed one day's pay for each member for visits to all four places. Some of the supervisors, growing humorous while the debate lagged, suggested that members who own automobiles escort the autoless members. The members with automobiles were to buy the gasoline and pay for any blowouts which might occur on the road.

Supervisor Moore attacked the proposed plan of the ways and means committee on the ground that it would appraise the authorities at the county institutions when the members were coming for a visit. "The point is," said the supervisor, "that we do not want them to know we are coming."

Mr. Nuttleman then moved that the entire scheme be tabled, and

POPE WILL RENOUNCE CLAIMS TO TEMPORAL POWER IN ORDER TO WORK FOR PEACE IS REPORT

Will He Give Up Claim To Power?

HE WILL REQUIRE ITALY'S PERMIT TO LEAVE VATICAN

The Condition Would Be Virtual Abandoning of Claim to Authority

POPES HAVE BEEN PRISONERS

Since 1870 When Claims Were Refused Recognition They Have Not Left Vatican

LONDON, Nov. 17.—To enable him to take part in future European conferences, Pope Benedict will practically, though not formally, renounce all claims to temporal power at the next consistory, according to a Rome dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company today.

It is assumed his holiness has in mind participation by the vatican in negotiations looking toward restored peace and the subsequent conferences for the establishment of post-bellum conditions. To do this it will be necessary for him to secure Italy's consent and a renunciation of his claims to temporal power unquestionably will be made a condition to such a concession by the Italian government.

The vatican actually was deprived of temporal authority in 1870 as an incident to the unification of Italy. The nominal claim to such power has ever since been made, however, and it has been the Italian government's refusal to recognize it that has led the past four popes to remain voluntary prisoners in the vatican.

Health Authorities Here Disagree

Dr. Edward A. Evans, president of the Board of Health:

"I don't see that a surgeon has any choice. It is his duty to preserve life whenever possible by every means in his power."

"I do not know the circumstances of the Chicago case, of course, but as a general course of action I do not agree with the surgeon's decision."

"If we undertake to decide matters of life and death like that, where would it lead us?"

Dr. J. M. Furstman, city health commissioner:

"I don't know what the conditions of this case are, but I will say this:

"If the child was doomed to be an imbecile and a cripple, the doctor did just what I think should have been done. If it were my own child I should say the same. Far better to let nature take its course than to save the child to be a sorrow to itself and its parents for the rest of its useless life."

"We are coming to it, eventually."

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Hank Fritz
Practices Being A Carpenter.

TWO of the most interesting things on Uncle Ben's farm I have never told you a word about," daddy smiled at his children. "Oh, tell us, daddy, please tell us," they shouted. "One is Bibbley Wah's dollhouse and the other is Anne's nephew, Hank Fritz. Hank had a kind, gentle disposition like Anne's and always did as he was told. On the farm, where everybody was good to him, he got on very well, but out in the world I much fear selfish people would have made his life miserable. Anyway, he did Uncle Ben's chores faithfully, and he was a great comfort to Anne, who loved him very dearly. He was all she had left of her very own. Now, about the dollhouse I could tell you a week of stories. Uncle Ben and Hank made it with their own hands, and it had an upstairs and a downstairs, a truly chimney and a real fireplace of nice little stones that Bobbie and Jim picked up. In their long trips over the huge farm every time they saw a pretty stone about as big as an orange they brought it home, and the whole front of the fireplace was of pretty glistening white quartz, pink feldspar, greenish mica, pudding stones and granite streaked yellow by iron. "What's a pudding stone, daddy?" asked Jack. "A white quartz with little purple stones mixed in it, just like raisins in a rice pudding," daddy explained. "So that every rainy day, when the children used the dollhouse most, they could have no end of fun remembering all the lovely hours they had roamed over the farm with Uncle Ben and Old Ned by the stones in the fireplace before which they played. There were two bedrooms upstairs big enough for the kiddies to walk around in and downstairs the big play room with the fireplace and a real kitchen with a stove where Anne taught them all sorts of lovely ways to cook against the days when the boys would go camping. "Tell us how the dollhouse looked outside, daddy?" asked Evelyn. "It looked just like a tiny real house, with a red brick chimney and little green blinds on the four windows, where the sun always shone inside. It was painted light yellow, with a white door that had a real lock and key. "On its walls inside were lots of shelves for playthings and all the pictures the children loved best framed in wood cut in Uncle Ben's forest. One of the jobs Hank Fritz had all winter was to make picture frames for the dollhouse. Uncle Ben was trying to make a carpenter of him, you see. He was only seventeen, rather slow to learn, and he had the funniest, longest legs. But tomorrow night I will tell you what he did to make Bibbley Wah happy in the dollhouse," daddy promised.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

JIM'S GOLD LEDGE

By Izola Forrester

(Copyright, 1915 by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

It might have turned out all right for Barton if he hadn't stopped over night in the sheep camp and talked too much with Silent Coates.

Coates had little to say while Barton stretched out in front of the big sheep wagon after supper and poured forth the hope of his heart to him. He listened with the apathetic voicelessness that had won him his sobriquet, smoked placidly and eyed the indefinite, humpbacked masses lying around just beyond the circle of firelight.

Yes, he knew old man Peterson and his daughter. He even admitted that, so far as he was aware, they still lived in Valley Creek. He never had known Adams. That was before his time. Yes, he had heard that he had discovered a gold mine and then lost its location, but that was all he knew. All this mostly in nods and grunts of assent while Barton questioned eagerly.

But after the stranger lay fast asleep by the dying embers Coates took out a stub of a pencil and tore off a piece of paper from a soap wrapper in the wagon. Then he wrote a note of great importance to his nearest neighbor, as neighbors run in the land of buttes. And he tied the note with a piece of string to the collar of Brag, one of his dogs, and pointed down the valley road.

Brag knew the road. He had carried tobacco along it before, and sometimes brought back newspapers and letters. There were only three spots of human habitation throughout the valley—Peterson's, Tony Allen's claim and, higher up, Coates' sheep ranch. So they all hung together in mutual dependence.

And the sovereign of the three was Sue. Not one bit was she like her father, the tall, blue-eyed Norwegian. Somehow, on his way down through the Northwest, Peterson had met a French Canadian girl and had married her up near Moosejag. After two years in the Valley Creek shack she had died, and Peterson had ridden down to the nearest town with the baby girl slung handily before him in a shawl, and had "rented" a half-breed woman as housekeeper and nurse.

So Sue was slim and dark, with glancing, watching eyes and a smile that would have made Cerberus wag his tail. And nearly every evening after sundown Tony would ride down the mountain road just to talk awhile with Sue out on the little front stoop of the shack, and to tell her what it meant to him to have her even in the same world as himself.

He read the note from Coates over twice, frowning, then tossed a strip of bacon to the messenger and started for the corral. It was moonrise when he caught the glint of the creek far below him. Sue's big wolf dogs heard the horse's tread and started barking. When he drew rein before the shack, old Peterson was out with a lantern.

"The moon's bright enough," said Tony. "Put that out, I don't want any one to see a light here." Sue slept on while the two talked together out in the cleared ground beyond the house. When she awoke it was after 4, and the valley lay like a bride fresh from the hands of her maids, the white mists slipping back in rose and golden rays.

"You're here pretty early, aren't you, Tony?" she called from the wash bench as the back of the shack. "There's more coming," answered Tony dryly, and he watched Barton approaching them half a mile away, coming gingerly down the rough butte trail on a horse he had bought in town.

"Who is he?" "Stranger, I guess. Sue, do dreams ever come true?" He laid two hands on her shoulders and turned her around to face him. "Remember how we've waited and hoped for years?"

"For gold?" "No, for each other. Haven't you? Didn't I tell you when you were only 16 what I thought of you? And you didn't laugh at me, either. Remember what you did, Sue? Don't get away. Look up at me. You put your arms—"

"Tony, they'll see you, please, please—"

The stranger and Peterson came leisurely up to the shack. Barton looked cheerful and friendly. He rested one foot on the first step and raised his hat to Sue.

"Got a nice little place here. I've just been looking the valley over. I'm a-er-a geologist." "Fine rocks around here," Tony said gravely.

"Yes, splendid-er-strata. Do you happen to know of a ledge that juts along the other side of this creek, somewhere through the valley? It is hidden in a ravine. There's a small cascade there."

"I know the place," Sue answered straightly. "You do?" Barton's small, dark eyes gleamed with interest. "I expect to build a cabin there. The water is very good, I was told. I bought the claim up from a man named Adams this spring back in Ohio."

"Pleasant to have you for a neighbor," Tony said.

"Going to settle here soon, are you?" asked Peterson quizzically, leaning with his elbows on the top railing around the stoop. But Sue's dark eyes widened with amazement and swift indignation.

"But the ledge is ours, dad. He can't have it. You wouldn't sell out, would you, for anything?"

"It can't be yours if I bought it

NEW ALBIN WOMAN DEAD FRIENDS HEAR

Miss Martha Johnson Dies at Minneapolis; Was Well Known to Host of Friends

NEW ALBIN, Iowa, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—News was received here of the death of Miss Martha Johnson, which occurred at Minneapolis, after an illness of two years. Although her death was expected for some time, still it came as a shock to her friends here. She was born at Winnebago Valley in the year 1887 and lived there continuously until about four years ago, when she and her aged father moved to New Albin, and resided until her father's death.

The remains were brought to New Albin Tuesday and conveyed to the Portland Prairie cemetery, by Undertaker Thompson, and laid to rest by the side of her parents, Rev. Disney of the M. E. church performed the last rites. She leaves three brothers and two sisters, viz: Andrew of New Albin, Victor of Winnebago Valley, Isaac of Montana, Florence of Minneapolis, and Mary Hanson of La Crosse.

Personal

Miss Caroline Pohlman is recovering from a severe case of tonsillitis. Malcomb Gillette, whose home was here in New Albin until six years ago, was an over Sunday visitor with the Rob Thompson, Sr., family. He departed for Dubuque Monday.

Dr. King a practicing physician here at one time, transacted business here Monday.

Mrs. B. Gerling and daughter Ruby of Eltzen did shopping here and visited at the A. G. Gerling home Monday.

Rev. Howard Smith of Mt. Hope was a caller in town recently.

John Love of Lansing was a business caller here Monday.

Mrs. John Swenson is at present confined in the Lutheran hospital at La Crosse, recovering from an operation for an abscess of the arm.

up last spring from Adams, could it?"

"And how could you buy it from a man that's been dead over a year?" demanded Tony coolly, stepping between them. "Jim Adams died in the county hospital right south of here in Sweetwater. He sold everything he ever owned in Valley Creek to Peterson here and it's on record. What are you so anxious about taking it up for?"

Barton hesitated, choosing his words, watching the girl's face.

"Well, since that's so, I don't want to put through any crooked deal. I'm willing to put up cash and work it out fifty-fifty with you all here."

"Work what out?" demanded Sue. "Jim's gold claim. I'll tell you the straight truth. I was a nurse at the hospital where he died and he told me about the ledge and where it was, showed me the sample of rock he'd brought away with him, and after he died I took it down and had it assayed. It showed $800 to the ton. Pretty good, isn't it? So I came after it. But you're in before me. Want a partner?"

Peterson shook his head slowly. "It's all in my girl's name. I ain't got anything to say."

Sue laughed and put her hand in Tony's.

"I've got a partner, thanks, Mr. Barton," she said.

Get two ounces of solvite at any drug store and put it in two gallons of gasoline, where it readily dissolves. Then put in the goods to be cleaned. After a little rubbing out they come looking as clean and fresh as new. You will find nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles, requiring no pressing.

Any woman can do home dry cleaning in a few moments at little cost and save lots of money. It is as simple and easy as laundering, and you can't make a mistake. Your grocer or any garage will supply the gasoline, and your druggist will sell you two ounces of solvite which is simply a gasoline soap. Then a wash boiler or large dishpan completes your home dry cleaning outfit. As gasoline is very inflammable, be sure to do your dry cleaning out of doors or in a room away from fire or flame, with the windows left open.

ENGLISH WOMEN BY MILLIONS READY TO MAKE SHELLS

Femininity of Nation Would Da All in Their Power to Help Their Cause

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Oct. 2. (By mail.)—If Lloyd George will permit the women of England to win the war for the allies by solving the question of munitions, they'll do it they say. Two millions of them say it. Under the increasing pressure they are bringing to bear on the minister of munitions, he is showing a disposition to give them a try.

They have pointed out to Lloyd George that England has at least 2,000,000 women who can devote their entire time to shell making. Every woman, they insist, can make at least one shell a day. That means 2,000,000 shells a day, a number far beyond Lloyd George's most extravagant estimate of England's needs. The women would like to undertake the job for all the allies.

Recently a military expert established that the French consumption of shells in July was 100,000 a day. It is certain that it is not now over 1,000,000 a day. This would leave a daily surplus of another million per day to pass around to the other allies. The women say that after Lloyd George their next greatest obstacle has been the engineer employees at the munition factories who have used them for fuse making and high electrical work, but decline to give them charge of the heavy machine tools.

Just to show them how wrong they were, the women at last succeeded in arranging for a full experiment in several of the factories testifying both to their ability and capacity for any branch of shell making.

They are declared to have done their work with an exactitude, thoroughness and conscientiousness that could not be excelled. They put into it brain as well as muscle. In one factory where women were employed exclusively, the output showed a quality superior to that for which it was designed.

The women are admitted to have become skilled in far shorter time than is required by men. A week's tuition is quite sufficient to initiate a woman into every process of complete shell making, equipping her to begin with a plain bar of steel and put it through all the successive stages of turning, boring, screwing and fitting the band and the plug. She showed equal ability in the factories making munitions machines.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and lanky. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste. Else you have backache, six headaches, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get clogged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and make a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

GIVE GRIFFITH
NOBEL PRIZE

One of the first great truths
without which there can be no more than conventional appreciation of art is that the possibilities for the artist cover a field as wide as human endeavor. Whatever man can do can be done excellently if one bring a clear vision and trained faculties to the work. And that is art.

So we have no trepidation in recommending "The Birth of a Nation"
to the consideration of the Nobel commission for the next dramatic prize. Griffith's masterpiece is the work of an artist. That it is presented through a medium which has been the vehicle of much that is worthless and harmful has nothing to do with its claims to consideration. Indeed, it may be said to add force, because of the great service
the picture has done in showing the artistic possibilities of a much-abused mode of expression.

The Nobel dramatic prize is awarded to the play which in the opinion of the commission has done most to uplift the world in a given year. We have seen or heard of none better entitled to the award than "The Birth of a Nation." In this period of bru-talizing war, its message of peace
is the most timely, the most effective and the most grippingly vivid of any direct or indirect argument we have met. It makes the needless horror of war a personal experience to the man who has read and come away
unconvinced from the flat and impersonal printed argument of the earnest but too often tiresome pa-
list.

The man who is silenced by economic logic and statistics is not half

so implicit a believer in the great gospel of peace as he whose soul has revolted at the bestial struggle and horrible harvest of the battlefield.

To millions who have never realized
a battle, "The Birth of a Nation"
has preached peace with conviction.

Is not that a heaven which will uplift the world? What deliverance is so sorely needed as the deliverance
from the uncivilized and dehumanizing monster of war?

Nor should we overlook the influence of the Griffith production upon patriotism, its power to quicken
this dormant passion and stir souls to pride and affection for the flag. Indeed, to us the European war brings no more vital message than that crystallization of national sentiment is one of the greatest necessities of the American people, and he who contributes largely to that end
performs a service of unusual value,
for national patriotism is a factor in the building of world citizenship.

Patriotism does not mean war—it will take the highest patriotism to do away with war.

This heaven is what we have so lightly and scornfully called a "movie." Must we not rather re-arrange our conception than laugh
Griffith out of court with our shallow cynicism? The Nobel poetry prize was awarded to Tagore, Hindu poet, who sang in a tongue foreign to every member of the commission.
With that for precedent, shall "The Birth of a Nation" be passed over because it speaks in a language new to dramatic convention?

THE RIGHTS OF A
VESTED INTEREST

The trouble with reformers is that they have no respect for established methods of industry. We never saw a clearer example of this frequently reiterated statement than Val Keppel's attack in the county board yesterday on the boys up Holmen way who collect bounty on the tails of gophers which have been turned loose, hob-tailed, to propagate families whose tails may in turn be docked for the county fees.

On Mr. Keppel's own statement the practice has become general. Many youthful citizens are interested in the industry. Have they no vested rights in the business they have fostered? The bounty for mayhem may not protect crops, but at least the fostering of tail-less parents for bounteous offspring is a dutiful emulation of "big business" which entitles it to protection as an infant industry. Even the prospective evolution of the tail-less species, an outlook which has its analogy in the destiny of special privilege, should not discourage development of an enterprise so true to type. By all means let flourish the lightning rod,
blue sky, watered stock and the detailed gopher.

"KEEP OFF
THE GRASS"

The gentleman who felled trees and scattered broken glass on his vacant lot to prevent boys using it as a playground is coming in for considerable adverse criticism. Possibly he is within his legal rights,
even though broken glass carries a sinister suggestion, but American people will hardly applaud so reckless a method of guarding against trespass. Indeed, we should not like to assume responsibility for the results should some young sportsman develop tetanus from venturing upon the old gridiron. At a time when the playground idea is so prominent a factor in the development of our preparation for citizenship, that a member of the school board should show such a lack of sympathy with the sports of school children is disappointing.

Quips and Cranks
and Wanton Wiles

Courtesy's Poor Reward

It was a courteous diplomat,
A man of lofty brain,
Who said: "Before I take my hat
I'm anxious to explain.

Who is your nation's head—
I did not slur the Democrat
Who is your nation's head—
I merely called him a stupid seut.

A silly simp and a measly mutt,
A childish clump and a brainless
butt.

And that was all I said!"

He paused to wipe his solemn face.
Where many tears I viewed.

He wailed: "This country is a place
Of black ingratitude.

I did not term your ruler base,
Or hint he had his price—
I only called him a trembling tool,
An imbecile imp and a stubborn
mule.

An awful ass and a flaunting fool,
And aren't those titles nice?

"You are so super-sensitive,"
The diplomat exclaimed:

"It's very hard with you to live,
Though I am lofty-aimed.

My sweetest thoughts I tried to give
In all my Yankee chat—
I merely called you a country crude,
A people punk and a race all rude.

With mental mud in a brain halfstewed.

And where's the harm in that?"

—John O'Keefe in The New York World.

Disgusted the Rookie

They were about the roughest,
rawest lot of recruits the sergeant
ever had to tackle.

He worked hard at them for three hours and at last thought they were getting into some sort of shape, so he decided to test them.

"Right turn" he barked. Then, before they had ceased to move, came another order: "Left turn!"

One yoked slowly left the ranks
and made off toward the barrack room.

"Here, you!" yelled the sergeant,
angrily, "where are you off to?"

"Ah! I've had enough," replied the recruit, in disgusted tone. "I don't know the town mind for two minutes runnin'!"

Breaking It Gently

Plunger—I felt awfully sorry for a poor guy down at the exchange today. He lost $5,000 on cotton and all the boys were guying him, and as he started off home, they taunted him with the prediction that his wife would land on him roughshod.

The poor chap acted as though he felt pretty badly about it.

Mrs. Plunger (sympathetically)— Poor fellow! No doubt he used his best judgment, and, if his wife
turns on him because of his reverses,
she is not worthy to be called wife. But who was the man?

Plunger—Why—er—It was me.—
Woman's Home Companion.

Who She Was

A popular coal dealer whose affairs are more or less the property of the neighborhood, was greeted the other day by a little girl with "Many happy returns of the day, Mr. Slack."

"I don't know you," said the dealer in black diamonds. "You're no
customer of mine," he added.

"Oh, yes, I am," was the rejoinder.
"I borrow your barrow for mother to go to the gas works for coke."

Waterbury Enough

A prominent lawyer tells this tale of the hills of Kentucky. He had been in Jackson county during the hearing of a big land case, and after the strain of several weeks in the court room decided to take a trip up in the mountains and enjoy the quieting influence of the hills. He traveled the paths and narrow mountain roads till he found himself, at the end of several days' journey, about forty or fifty miles from the railroad. It was about noon, the lawyer judged,
for his watch had run down and he could not be exact. But in the midst of this deep contemplation the lawyer came upon an old darky sitting upon a boulder alongside the road.

"What time have you?" he asked
of the old darky.

"Well, suh, boss, the old Waterbury says she about 11:50," was the reply.

"Is that sun time or railroad
time?" again questioned the lawyer.

"What diffence does that make?
One am 'bout as fer from here as the other."

Aunt Emmy's Code

The old black cook of a southern family was horrified to find that one of the young negroes, employed as a helper in the kitchen, had been caught stealing.

"I don't believe in stealin'," said Aunt Emmy. "I don't never take nothin'—'cept its somethin' to eat—
or somethin' to wear—or somethin'
what I thinks the missus don't want
—or somethin' de ole boss is got too
blind to miss!" —New York Times.

Thirty Rush Restaurants When They Unload from East-bound Freight Early Today

ADVANCE GUARD OF SMALL ARMY

Four Hundred More Are to Pass the City Today, Enroute to Strike-breaking Job in Chicago

Thirty members of the Industrial Workers of the World, beating back from the western harvest fields, descended on the north side this morning. They were the advance guard of a contingent of 400, this morning's visitors said, which will reach the city this afternoon. The small army is en route to Chicago to accept places as strike-breakers in labor troubles said to be in progress in the Windy City.

The thirty, fresh from the harvest fields of the Dakotas and Montana, left an extra east bound Milwaukee freight train at 8:30 this morning to break their fast after an all night ride from points west of the twin cities. Blankets, sacks, and gosh-know-what swung from their backs, carrying their traveling accoutrements, as they rushed the restaurants in the vicinity of the north side station of the Milwaukee railroad. They paid for their meals.

The usual crop of "scissor bills" as the non-union bees are monickered by the I. W. W.'s, is just beginning to go through the city from the north and west. The greater portion of the men are going east and south-east.

LA CROSSE SAILOR DESCRIBES BATTLE

Russell Peterson Tells of Landing Under Fire in Sham Fight on West Coast

While the big guns of the belligerent nations of Europe roar over the gruesome battlefields of Europe, the guns of the United States army and navy are active, albeit less effective, according to a letter received a few days ago by Mr. and Mrs. Morris Peterson, 1109 Gillette street, from their son Russell, a seaman on the United States battleship South Dakota. The letter was written at San Francisco November 9, and depicts vividly the life and work of the sailor and army regular in preparation for possible war. In his letter Peterson describes a sham battle between the marines and seamen on the battleships and the land forces in an attempt to make a landing under fire.

Soon to be Out

Peterson has been gone a little more than three years, and his term of enlistment expires May 16, 1916. An extract of Peterson's letter to his parents is printed: "We had a big sham battle here the other day. It was pretty good, and we had about a thousand soldiers down behind a fence and it was our duty to show people how to make a landing on the beach from the ships while under fire from shore. The ships opened fire, and under fire about five hundred of us from the South Dakota, Milwaukee, and Oregon loaded ourselves into boats and made for the shore. There were six boats and each boat had a 'one pounder' in the bow, with which we were to open fire as soon as we got into range. The purpose was to drive the soldiers back from the fence so that we could effect a landing.

Land in Water

"We landed in water knee-deep, formed a line of skirmish, fired a few rounds, and charged. It sure was great. Men were falling right and left. We made about fifty feet in that charge, then lay down in mud ankle deep, and repeat the firing and charging tactics. We charged five or six times firing all the time as we charged, the land force would fall back. The 'battle' ended when we exhausted our supply of ammunition.

"There sure was a lot of noise, with the ships and smaller boats firing their guns, and about 1,500 men shooting as fast as they could load and pull. Then we had a parade after the battle. We were a sight, covered from head to foot with mud, but I guess the people liked it at that."

NORMAL SONGSTERS LEAP INTO FAVOR

Swains Vic for Smiles and Bids to the Glee Club's Annual Party

The Ladies' Glee club of the normal school has leaped into sudden popularity. The club's annual party is to occur in the near future and men students, as usual about this time of the year, stoop to win the fair ones' favor for the purpose of securing a "bid."

However, the club demonstrated yesterday morning at its debut before the normal assembly that it is far from being merely a social organization. The fifty-two young ladies, each selected in competition with many others, displayed creditable quality as well as volume in their work yesterday, as a result of their few practices under the direction of Mr. Homer Cotton. The two selections sung by the club were "The Florian Song" by Goddard, and "Calm as the Night" by Bohm.

The remaining portion of the chapel period was profitably used by President Cotton who discussed the death of Booker T. Washington. Mr. Cotton told of the struggles of a negro and his work in building up one of the greatest educational institutions in this country; he was clasped by the speaker as one of the greatest of America's great men.

"Our butter has gone through the market without a single quality cut in price since we started the co-operative whitewashing of our barns." This is the statement of an official of a farmers' creamery and supply company up in Columbia county the members of which have purchased a portable spray pump which they rent at 25 cents a day for the actual time it is kept on their respective premises. Before the cows are brought in from the pasture for winter feeding it is expected that every cow belonging to members of the association will stand in a freshly whitewashed stall.

WAYS TO HANDLE THE THANKSGIVING BIRDS GIVEN OUT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—With Thanksgiving a week and a day distant the agriculture department today issued a bulletin on ways of handling poultry that have particular application to the Thanksgiving bird. Among suggestions are these: Hang the bird by both feet while picking. Hanging by one leg spoils its shape. Picking in the lap mangles it up.

Don't kill while the crop is full of food. Feed the bird nothing but water in the twenty-four hours preceding execution.

Never handle the bird roughly, either before or after death. Rough handling causes bruises and broken bones.

Preventive measures are more important in saving vegetables from the attacks of insects and disease than remedial measures such as spraying.

Gained Eighteen Pounds After Using Three Bottles of Peruna

Mrs. Hattie Hamilton, No. 918 Glen Ave., Latonia, Ky., writes: "I have taken two bottles of Peruna and commenced on the third one. I did not really need the third one, but thought it best to take another bottle. I have always weighed 102 pounds, but since I began taking Peruna, I weigh 120, for the first time in all of my life, and I am now 32 years old. Your medicine has surely done me a great deal of good, and I have recommended it to several others who have begun taking it. My mother, who is 76 years old, had grown so weak she could scarcely walk. She took two bottles of Peruna and is fleshier and looking well."

Some people are of so suspicious a turn of mind that they are always looking for trouble. A stout gentleman with sharp eyes, entered a little restaurant, fixing an eagle gaze on the obsequious waiter. "I see you recommend your oysters at 30 cents
the dozen?" she snaped.

"Yes, sir; the best, sir—real natives, sir," bowed the waiter.

"Then I think I'll have one."
"One dozen, sir?"

"No; I said one, and mean one—
one oyster."

The waiter's smile vanished and he eyed the stout gentleman witheringly as he asked, "With or without, sir?"

"With or without what?"
"Pearls," snapped the waiter, with great sarcasm.

STATE BANK OF LACROSSE

"THE BANK ON THE CORNER"

his motion was seconded. Before a vote could be taken, Supervisor Moore moved to adjourn.

"I would like to know what the members are doing?" asked Supervisor Keppel. "Are they making new history?" The board adjourned at 12 o'clock sharp.

The board did not convene this morning until 11:30 o'clock. The board and bridge committee was still plying away at a stack of work. The finance committee was still in the air as to many items which shall have to be placed in the budget of expenses for the ensuing year.

Appropriations made this morning were: $20 for the district attorney's contingent fund; $2,500 for the soldiers' relief fund; and $200 for a county exhibit of farm products to be shown at the Milwaukee state fair.

Following a lengthy and warm-hearted debate in the chamber of the county board of supervisors yesterday afternoon, in which the opinions of Circuit Judge E. C. Higbee were quoted frequently, the salary of the office of clerk of circuit court was increased from $1,200 to $1,500 annually. However, the official will be deprived of a deputy. The ruling of the board will not go into effect until a new clerk of court is elected to fill the vacancy of Frank H. Aiken, who will complete his present term of office next fall.

Criticisms Aiken. Criticism of Mr. Aiken, which was taken part in by Chairman R. W. Davis and others, was started by Supervisor Valentine S. Keppel, whose chief complaint was "inefficiency" and the alleged illegal employment of a deputy clerk of court, which position is now held by Mrs. Cora M. Wright. In the event that Mr. Aiken serves a second term in the office, Mrs. Wright cannot remain in her position with remuneration from the county. Her office, nevertheless, is not affected until her term, which expires simultaneously with the clerk's, is finished.

According to Supervisor Keppel's statement to the board, Judge Higbee is said to have recommended a nominal salary of $300 a year for the clerk of court, with a salary of about $1,000 annually for his deputy.

Davis Takes Floor

Supervisor Keppel then presented a resolution to make the salary of the clerk $300. Chairman Davis requested Supervisor J. H. Moran to take the chair, and he descended to the floor of the chamber.

"It is a slur on the intelligent voters of La Crosse county," declared Chairman Davis heatedly, "to say that they selected an incompetent man for the office of clerk of the court, but nevertheless, the fact remains, the county should offer a salary which would be attractive to good men. You can't get competent men for the salary of $100 a month, and I say this with all due respect to the present office holders."

"The office really should be an appointive one. This has been the desire of Judge Higbee for a long time. This is not the first instance of incompetence in the office of clerk of court. This board must eliminate the deputy clerk and pay the clerk a fair salary for doing all the work himself. Wisconsin statutes provide that circuit judge may appoint a deputy clerk temporarily, and this rule will take care of the instances when a deputy is needed."

"The trouble over the office now arising is all the fault of the voters. In many cases at election time, the good men who run for office are not elected. Looking at the thing from another angle, there is entirely too much partisanship in elections here. It is ridiculous for us to divide ourselves into democrats, republicans and prohibitionists in running for county office. It is foolish to have party feeling in the court house."

Maintaining that his efficiency would not increase by the change, Supervisor E. W. Guenther recommended that the board refuse to grant the increase of $300 annual salary to County Highway Commissioner John Hinton, proposed by the salary committee. Supervisor Keppel also entered into the debate on the side of Supervisor Guenther. Supervisor Walter C. Winter hinted that if the salary was not increased, Hinton would possibly be persuaded at some future time to go into the employ of another county. He declared that his work was the best in the state. The salary increase was voted by a large majority.

Moore Charges False Report. Supervisor Moore rekindled the blaze started by his first declaration that the poor farm was conducted in a "filthy" manner, when he declared that some of the poor farm's crops had been exaggerated in the annual report of the poor and insane committee. The assertions were flatly denied by Supervisor E. W. Guenther, chairman of the poor and insane committee, who drew up the report.

"The committee's annual report," asserted the Onalaska supervisor, gave out that 1,600 baskets of corn had been produced on the farm during the summer. This would make 800 bushels, enough to completely fill the two corn cribs at the poor farm. "When I visited the farm, there was corn in only one crib, and this one was only half full. I could find no corn standing in the fields."

Supervisor Moore also stated that

Greater Efficiency Expected
if Separate Forces

Single Unit

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
PARIS, Nov. 17.—The French and British fighting forces are virtually one tonight.

Hitherto, though allied they have fought more or less independently. Henceforward they will be guided from a single source—the inter-allies war council.

Russia and Italy will join the combination as speedily as possible. The Franco-British arrangement was perfected today. Present at this first council today were Premier Lloyd George, First Lord of the Admiralty Balfour and Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey of England and Premier Briand, War Minister Gallieni, Minister of Marine Lacaze and General Joffre of France.

The English group include three of the five members of the British inner war council of the cabinet. The French officials represented, as nearly as the ministry's personnel permitted, the corresponding French posts.

The conference began early today. This afternoon it was understood its work was completed, so far as the co-ordination of the British and French armies work is concerned. There must be subsequent meetings to deal with fresh situations as they arise and new policies as they become necessary.

The next meeting, it is expected, will be to take the Russian and Italian representatives into the joint body.

No official statement was issued, but it is known broadly what the conference was for and that the object was evidently accomplished before adjournment.

Despite the fact that General Joffre has been recognized as commander-in-chief of the allies' forces in the west, not only the English and French but also the Belgian armies have been handled to a considerable extent as separate units.

The Russians have had still less appreciation of the momentary necessities of their allies. The allies have hardly co-operated at all.

The purpose of the joint war council is to handle all four armies as one, to strike with their combined sledge-hammer blows, with four-fold the force it is possible to strike with them separately.

He had been told by Poor Commissioner Henry Ellis that the hogs at the poor farm were extremely poor. Supervisor Guenther then rose with the statement that the corn raised this year had not entirely been husked and that it was still standing.

$5,000 Mothers' Pensions. Although $14,000 was the estimated sum needed to carry out the Mothers' Pension law in La Crosse county, the board yesterday afternoon appropriated only $5,000 for the work. Little argument was offered on the subject. There are more than forty families in the county who will come in for aid from this source.

Less than half of them can be taken care of, it was stated, unless on very small sums are paid each mother. The distribution of this sum will be left to County Judge John Brindley.

The sum of $12,000 was appropriated for poor for the ensuing year. This is a reduction of $4,000 from last year, when $16,000 was appropriated. However, the sum for "Mothers' Pensions" this year will make up for the smaller sum, as many persons will be taken off the county poor commissioner's list.

Supervisor John Kindley, a city member of the board, declared that he believed the "pension" appropriation was not practical and that all poor of the county should be cared for by the poor commissioners from the sum appropriated for poor work in the county. Supervisor J. J. Verchota defended the law.

Eleven thousand dollars was appropriated for the La Crosse County Agricultural school, $2,000 of which is to be used in the purchase of several pure bred cows. The sum given the school last year was $8,000.

Wants County Exhibits. Professor T. H. Campion addressed the board yesterday on a plan to have La Crosse county farm products displayed in a special booth each year at the Wisconsin state fair at Milwaukee. He asked for an appropriation of $200 for this purpose.

Ten Gophers in a Bunch. Not less than ten gophers can be presented to a town chairman in La Crosse county for bounty at a single time, it was agreed upon yesterday by the supervisors, who adopted the committee's annual county schedule. Brown moles and wild cats were put on the new list of animals, the moles to be paid for at the rate of fifty cents each.

A petition of City Attorney J. E. Higbee to have State street resurfaced from Sixteenth to Eighteenth streets, was presented to the board by Supervisor John Kindley. The appropriation of $1,300 was asked by Kindley.

A resolution presented by Chairman Davis to have the flag displayed on all fair days from the court house was adopted unanimously.

ed by Frank B. Gessler for the Bangor club.

The hall in which the business meeting was held last night was packed to the doors, many of the Bangor men standing up and finding seats on window sills. A dinner at the Hotel Elson preceded the meeting.

Several of the La Crosse delegation were called upon for speeches by Frank Gessler, Bangor editor, who presided at the meeting. President Hebbard was the first speaker. He delivered a carefully prepared talk on the relations between town and country in the matter of business interests, going over the results of a survey in Walworth county and the subsequent better co-operation between urban and rural communities.

Praise Organization. Frank Sisson and A. P. Funk spoke briefly on the value of organization, a question which was touched upon later by Secretary C. S. Van Aiken of the La Crosse board of trade, who declared that nothing of value had ever been accomplished in La Crosse without organization. D. W. MacWille spoke along similar lines.

William F. Hurtgen advocated "pep." Quality, he said, is more desirable in a commercial club than quantity. Thirty live ones, paying $20 a year and ready to work when work is to be done, will do more for a club than 300 "just members" who contribute $1 a year and feel their duty is done.

"Banquets, buttons and 'bull' don't make a club," said the La Crosse mattress maker.

John C. Burns reminisced a little when his turn came. He spoke of his experience in Bangor twenty years ago, and complimented the village for the progress it has made.

BABUNA PASS IS ENTERED AND TOWN IS ENDANGERED

If the City Is Taken It Is

BIG BATTLE AT STRUMNITZ

Bulgarians Start Skirmishing
the Moment Allied Troops Crossed the Border

ATHENS, Nov. 17.—Overwhelming the Serbs north of Prilep, Bulgars entered Babuna Pass today.

Small bodies of troops are still defending some of the heights but the Serbian loss of the pass exposes Prilep to speedy capture. Its inhabitants are fleeing southward.

With Prilep in their hands, the Bulgars' natural next objective will be Monastir, twenty-five miles south. Huge losses on both sides marked the Babuna Pass fighting. Strategically the position is one of the most important in southern Serbia. It has been bitterly contested.

A few days ago the Bulgars attacked it in force. The Serbs defended it desperately and at a critical stage in the battle British and French reinforcements reached them. Temporarily this turned the tide against the Bulgars who retired in disorder toward Veles, twenty miles northeast.

Reorganizing at Veles, they resumed the assault, occupying the town of Iaser, midway between Veles and Babuna Pass as they advanced. Of the outcome of the fighting at Veles between the Bulgars and the French who were attacking them along the Vardar river, nothing has been heard. The French capture of the town was reported imminent but the Bulgars were reinforced later and their success in launching another offensive against Babun Pass suggests that they must be fully holding their own at Veles also.

Strumnitz Objective. SALONIKA, Nov. 17.—A big battle rages about Strumnitz today. Strong Bulgarian forces are engaged with a formidable body of British and French.

The allies have been inside the southwestern Bulgarian frontier for a week. Strumnitz is the first objective.

Preliminary skirmishing began the moment the allies crossed the border. For several days only scattered small encounters occurred. The country, mountainous, cut up by many torrents and ravines, is terribly difficult for military operations.

The allies had to proceed with much caution.

Meantime the Bulgars, evidently determined to prevent the allies from gaining even a small permanent foothold on their soil have been strengthening Strumnitz's defenses and bringing up heavy reinforcements.

In the past twenty-four hours the opposing main bodies have come in contact and the skirmishes merged into a great general battle, perhaps the fiercest thus far in the Balkan campaign.

Bulgars Strong. The Bulgars are strongly situated and in heavy force, with reserves readily available. Their artillery at this point is equal to the allies. The British are bringing up fresh men rapidly from Salonika.

If Strumnitz is carried, the Bulgars line of communications between their forces in Serbia and Sofia will be endangered and their Macedonia campaign plans will be upset completely.

Greece Will Hold Troops. PARIS, Nov. 17.—All French, British and Serbians who may be driven out of Serbia into Greek territory will be disarmed and interned. Allied diplomats have suspected this was King Constantine's plan before; today they are sure of it. It explains a queer detail of the Bulgarian campaign.

The Bulgarians in Serbia apparently have made no attempt at a systematic advance. Detached bodies of them have been operating far to the southward of their main line. These bodies have been too large for mere scouting parties, but seemingly not large enough for independent operations.

They have attacked the allies fiercely at many points along the Greek frontier. It is now the opinion of French and British commanders that these attacks are not part of a plan for a smashing general victory; their purpose is to drive the allies, a few at a time, so that they can be overpowered easily, into Greece.

The Milano, 4,152 tons, is owned by the Societa Marittima Italiana and sails from Venice.

I cannot express an opinion because such a case might come before me,"—Judge George F. Barrett of the criminal court.

"Pagan Idea." "This is a Pagan idea. The fundamental principle of Christianity is saving lives. Deformed persons do a lot for this world, as history shows. Most of them are lovable and law-abiding. I am horrified at the idea,"—Rev. Father Frank S. O'Brien, Holy Name church.

"It is difficult to hold a dogmatic opinion in a case like this. I am divided between conviction and sentiment. The trend of science teaches us to prolong life and Christianity recognizes the sacredness of life. Therefore, I believe everything should be done to keep the child alive. I must add that circumstances alter cases and the doctor must be the final judge of conditions,"—Bishop Samuel Fallows.

Authorities to Act?

Police Chief Healy this afternoon called a hurried conference with Commissioner of Health John H. Robertson and Coroner Peter Koffman to decide what action, if any, those departments can take to compel the German-American hospital authorities to perform an operation to save the life of the defective infant of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bollinger. Dr. H. J. Haiselden, in charge of the case, upon being informed of possible official action, reiterated his decision to let nature take its course.

"Whatever we decide to do," said Chief Healy, "if we find we have jurisdiction, we will take action immediately." This was at noon. At that hour Dr. Haiselden said the baby had about four hours to live.

Chief Healy was opposed to permitting the child to die, "no matter how terrible its deformities." Health Commissioner Robertson said he was inclined to leave the matter to the doctor in charge, although he believed the question "a delicate one."

"I cannot say now," said Robertson, "whether I shall issue a death certificate. I know of no reason why I should not, but that matter will have to be decided later."

"I cannot give any official opinion," said Coroner Hoffman. "As an individual, however, I think the matter one for argument. Dr. Haiselden tells me an artificial intestinal opening must be made as a part of the operation to save the child's life. It seems an awful thing to allow an infant to die. It is also said to contemplate the life of this baby in after years. It's a big question."

Prosecutor Angry. Assistant State's Attorney Michael Sullivan, in charge of that office in the temporary absence of State's Attorney Hoyne, bitterly denounced Dr. Haiselden's attitude.

AUTHORITIES GO AFTER 'HIGHER-UPS' IN ALLEGED PLOT

Gorican Confers with Federal Officials in Connection with Fay Case

STEAMSHIP LINE INVOLVED?

Officials Will Be Tried on Monday on Charge of Giving Supplies to German Raiders

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Federal officials focused their efforts on New York today in a many-angled attempt to reach "men higher up" in alleged illegal German propaganda. Dr. Joseph Gorican, former Austrian consul at San Francisco, whose statements aroused department of justice authorities to speedy action, was in conference with Chief Flynn of the secret service and representatives of the federal district attorney's office today.

Gorican, it was reported, would present a list of three hundred men, including many bankers, alleged to have furnished money or otherwise aided activity of Teutonic spies.

Gorican may take the stand as a government witness in the trial of officials of the Hamburg-American line accused of furnishing supplies to German commerce raiders in violation of the United States neutrality. The trial of the officials was set today for Monday.

The officials are charged with entering false manifests with a view to furnishing supplies for German commerce raiders. Their case was called today and the government demanded speedy trial. Woods announced that the 100 witnesses he has in this case will establish that the Hamburg-American line has actively aided in many of the enterprises charged by Dr. Gorican.

MAYOR RE-AFFIRMS CAR REGULATIONS

Letter to Chief of Police Reiterates Requirement that Cars Stop No Longer Than Two Minutes

"Two-minute orders" to the traffic policemen at Fourth and Main streets were re-affirmed today by Mayor A. A. Bentley, in a letter sent to Chief of Police John B. Webber. The letter followed the announcement yesterday that the Trades and Labor council planned to call upon the mayor in an attempt to have the street car regulations modified.

The mayor's letter was sent by the chief to the street car company, which has been protesting against the rigidity of the traffic rules. "There is no change in the regulation," the chief said today. "Street cars are still forbidden to stop more than two minutes at the corner."

At noon today Mayor Bentley had not been visited by the labor delegation which at the request of the street car men's union has been authorized to ask a change in the regulations.

sician," he said, "are liable to charges of manslaughter if the operation is not performed, and unless every known step is taken to save the child. However, the matter is up to the police department. It is not for this office to begin action."

Physicians Divided. NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—New York physicians were divided in their opinion today of the case of Baby Bollinger, dying in a Chicago hospital because surgeons refuse to perform an operation that may save his life and yet leave him a defective.

Dr. Irwin Arnow, superintendent of the big Jewish Maternity hospital, severely condemned the action of the Chicago hospital staff.

"Whether the baby is an idiot for life does not enter into the question," said Dr. Arnow. "It is the duty of every medical man in the country to save life in every case where it is possible."

Dr. Gertrude B. Kelly expressed the same view.

"No physician has a right to curtail life in any way," she said. "Doctors are not little gods to make life or death decisions."

Dr. John A. McCorkle of the Long Island hospital said the Chicago hospital staff "did exactly right."

"Why prolong life if the child is bound to be a burden to society," he asked.

Miss Katherine B. Davis, commissioner of corrections of New York, said her experience with the worst types of mental defectives convinced her the Chicago hospital authorities were exactly right.

Walker Whiteside in Film Play Repeats Success He Scored in Legitimate Creation of Role

FROM POETIC PEN OF ZANGWILL

Movie Is Alight with Patriotism of the Frank Kind That Finds Prompt Echo

Walker Whiteside and the "Melting Pot," which will be seen in La Crosse at the Majestic theater the last half of Thanksgiving week, the banner week of the theater which has been given over to the benefit of the Y. W. C. A. by the courtesy of Manager Frank Koppelberger, is one of the few plays that has not suffered by its transition from the legitimate stage to the screen. The play will be here for three days, November 25, 26 and 27.

Whiteside Scores Again
Walker Whiteside, who brought the public flocking to the theater when he created the role on the legitimate stage of the young Jewish boy who forces the fighting of the fates in his efforts to attain success through his talent as an alien musician, repeats his success of the stage in the film version of the play, making up for the missing voice by the excellence of his acting. Assisting him in the leading role is Valentine Grant, a familiar face on the screen. She adds to her increasing film fame through her interpretation of the Russian girl who rebels against the cruel practices of her country.

The play is in six reels, and is a somewhat poetic symbolization of the United States from the pen of Israel Zangwill. To appreciate the power and poetry of Zangwill's story, one must see this feature filmed by the Cort Film corporation. There are few writers today who yield a pen of greater power than this son of Israel, and it may be doubted whether he ever wielded it with more enthusiasm and inspiration than in the story of the "Melting Pot."

25-cent "Danderine" will save your hair and double its beauty.

Try this! Your hair gets soft, wavy, abundant and glossy at once.

Save your hair! Beautify it! It is only a matter of using a little Danderine occasionally to have a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, wavy and free from dandruff. It is easy and inexpensive to have pretty, charming hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp. Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

frank flag-waving sort that will find echo in most American bosoms. The burden or plot of it is the escape of the downtrodden of foreign countries, especially Russia, into our own country, with its atmosphere of happy freedom, and it makes one feel like saying "Bravo" to the Goddess of Liberty who frequently flickers into view. Although it brings into prominence the sufferings of the down-trodden, the theme of the play is centered about the welding of the world's races into the crucible of the United States, and the symbolism is wonderfully set before the spectator in a series of "visions" which picture the earth's people being lowered into the melting pot and emerging a new people. The picture stirs and tears your emotions but the theme of the play and the love of country is depicted for you and you go away satisfied.

DAUGHTER IS LAID BESIDE MOTHER

The body of Miss Christine Ytrehus, daughter of Rev. A. Ytrehus, of Wild Rose, N. D., was laid beside that of her mother in Oak Grove cemetery at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. Ytrehus died at her home in North La Crosse twenty-four years ago, when Christine was an infant. Rev. Ytrehus was at that time pastor of the Bethel Lutheran church. With his family, Rev. Ytrehus later removed to North Dakota where he now holds a charge.

Miss Ytrehus died at Northwood, N. D., Friday, of consumption. Funeral services were held at her home and the body shipped to this city for burial. Funeral services were held from the north side undertaking parlors of Tetley-Sletten-Dahl, 1219 Caledonia street, at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

MUCH OPPOSITION IS ENCOUNTERED TO CANAL PROPOSAL

State Should Not Go Into Debt Says Chicago Attorney Attacking Measure

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Opposition to the eight-foot Utica-Lockport canal, had its inning today in the hearing before Col. W. V. Judson, war department engineer, on whether or not the canal shall be constructed along the plans adopted by Governor Dunne's waterway commission.

Enoch Harpole, Chicago attorney, owning land in McLean county, opposed placing "an indebtedness upon our posterity." Meeting the statement that if the waterway is not built, the coal industry will suffer, he said that he owned a vein of coal and had never yet called a boat to help to market. That grain cannot be shipped from any point along the Mississippi to Liverpool, via New Orleans, because it heats was his answer to the argument that the canal would help the farmer.

Denying that the state of Illinois has no indebtedness as stated by the Dunne commission, Harpole cited that on December 17, 1836, Illinois borrowed $477,919 from the federal government, still carried upon the books of the federal government as "available cash," and on which the state now owes $1,000,000 interest, with no move to pay either interest or principal. He opposed the proposed generation of electricity by the canal, suggesting that the state raise onions and pumpkins if it wanted to go into business. They would be tangible, he said, and less easily stolen.

Building of the Panama canal has intensified the need of waterways in the Mississippi river valley. Col. Charles E. W. Smith, retired New York financier, told the hearing, in supporting his plea for a fourteen foot waterway. Railroads, although they are not now earning four percent on their investment, will be benefited by the development of waterways, he said.

After submitting a written brief on the subject of the necessity of a fourteen foot waterway as a part of the records for later consideration of the war department, Lyman A. Cooley, official expert of the lakes to the gulf deep waterway association, quoted J. J. Hill, St. Paul railroad magnate, as having addressed a meeting in St. Paul, in 1895, with the assertion that the sun had set upon upper Mississippi river navigation and its improvements, and that no eight feet waterway could compete with railroads. On the other hand, a waterway capable of floating boats carrying 10,000 tons would eliminate railroads from competition in certain classes of freight. He added the sanitary necessity of fourteen foot channels to that of the economic argument.

COMMITTEE UPON CHILD WELFARE IS TO WORK IN CITY

New Line of Work Inaugurated by the Associated Charities at Annual Meeting

POINTS ARE READ AT SESSION
Expense of More Than $2,000 with Relief of $700 Is Explained by Description of Work

With James Thompson, former district attorney, as chairman, the child welfare committee of the Associated Charities was appointed last night by President William Everett Johnson, to begin an entirely new line of work in La Crosse. Fourteen members are on the committee, whose duty, Father Johnson explained when he announced the appointments at the annual meeting of the charities' association at the city hall last night, will be to combat the immoral atmosphere which surrounds many children in La Crosse.

Father Johnson suggested that the chairman appoint two or three members of the committee as the active workers, to meet at stated intervals and take up complaints involving conditions detrimental to child life here.

The child welfare committee is made up as follows:

James Thompson, chairman; Mrs. Wm. Doerflinger, Mrs. L. F. Easton, Miss Charlotte Kohn, Mrs. Andrew Lees, D. W. MacWillie, Miss Elizabeth MacCrack, Mr. H. J. Hirschheimer, Rev. G. D. Longbrake, Miss Norman Mueller, D. H. Shephardson, W. C. Greenwalt, Mrs. R. C. Whippley and Miss Nadia Thomas.

Other committees appointed last night were:

Executive Committee
The president, Rev. W. E. Johnson; first vice president, Rev. Ambrose Murphy; second vice president, D. W. MacWillie; treasurer, T. H. Spence, Rev. G. R. Longbrake, J. E. McConnell, Miss Norma Mueller and D. H. Shephardson.

Advisory Committee
Rev. W. J. Peacock, chairman; Dr. E. R. Mulford, Mrs. Alonzo Chubb, Mrs. John G. Moore and Mrs. Wm. Winell.

Finance Committee
The president, Rev. W. E. Johnson; treasurer, T. H. Spence, H. J. Hirschheimer, F. H. Fowler and N. M. Scott.

Reports of the work of the Associated Charities for the past year were read. The report of Miss Nadia Thomas, general secretary showed that during the year since October, 1914, the association has handled $2,717.90; with the visiting nurse's department, $3,363.52. The expenditures include $1,752.45 for salaries, $241.31 for office expenses, and $669.46 for material relief. With the expenses of the visiting nurse and humane departments, the association is left with a balance on hand of $3.09 to begin this year's work.

168 Families Aided
The families helped during the year numbered 168. Fifty-seven were given material relief, for a number of causes, the chief of which was unsteady or insufficient employment. Of the discrepancy between the amount of material relief and the office expenditures, the report says:

Other Services
"Material relief lends itself to figures quite easily, but when it comes to tabulating all the various other services rendered to families, it is a very difficult proposition, because as the needs of each individual family are peculiar unto themselves, so also must the ways of meeting those needs be as various as the families themselves, difficult to classify and tabulate."

"The value of the hundreds of personal visits of both volunteers and office staff, giving advice, instructions, good cheer, or encouragement, as the case may be, cannot be reduced to figures."

"The re-uniting and patching up of broken families, the reform here and there of an irresponsible or drunken husband, the strengthening of long neglected natural ties with the church, or with relatives in different parts of the country; the planning to keep a bright child in school who might otherwise have to go to work; protecting little children from abuse or vicious environment. All of these things come up in the course of the day's work, and are difficult to count or measure."

Change By-Laws
Upon motion of John E. McConnell, an amendment to the by-laws of the corporations was adopted, providing a change in the time of the

This Wild Cat's Wildness Gone But Not Forgotten

Fellers!
A wild cat!
County supervisors started a stampede towards the hospitably looking front door of the court house early yesterday afternoon. The assuring voice of County Clerk B. A. Jolivet rung out just in time to save what seemed the inevitable end of the county capitol's main entrance. The supervisors gingerly retraced their steps. They peeked carefully round the door of the corridor into the clerk's office. The wild cat lay in its same "crouching," "menacing" attitude, but "Bert" stroked its soft fur confidently, as he prepared to issue a check to Albert Chapiewsky of the town of Washington, in payment of bounty. Chapiewsky killed the animal a few days ago just in time to save the life of a valuable hunting dog. "Some little heroes, you fellows," he remarked.

The Cause of Anaemia

It is universally known that iron is a very important element of the blood, and lack of it is the direct cause of run-down conditions and anaemia. It may interest our readers to know that Druggists Hoeschler Bros., of this town, have in Vinol a reliable, constitutional remedy for such conditions. Vinol supplies iron to the blood in its most soluble state; then there's the nourishing properties of beef peptone and the medicinal curative extractives of fresh cod livers, without oil, all dissolved in a pure native tonic wine. That's what makes Vinol so successful in overcoming run-down and anaemic conditions.

WILLIAMS AGAINST TO KICKING GOAL
AFTER TOUCHDOWN

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—When the football rules committee gets together for its annual Kaffeeklatsch
this year, the middle west is going to have at least one representative on that body who will advocate a change in the scoring rules. Doc Williams, Minnesota coach, believes the one point goal after a touchdown is all wrong. He thinks the goal after a touchdown should be attempted from scrimmage formation, the scoring team to choose a try either at drop kicking or from placement.

REGULARS WITH SCRUBS GIVE TEAM
REAL PRACTICE

Horne's Men Don't Do So Much When They Have Some Real Opposition

Second team competition, while not good enough for St. Paul, is plenty strong for Horne's men. Of the first team regulars, Horne kept but 12 of his 17 and gave the rest
to Coach Puckett of the seconds.
These men had not been drilled in the Minnesota shift, which is being used entirely by the scrubs, so were not used on the offense. The five of them were played on the defense,
however, and showed the regulars
some scrappy competition. The firsts could hardly bear up under this, the first opposition since Chippewa Falls was met and defeated. The seconds have been unable to bear up against the terrific drives they have been subjected to for the last three weeks.
Sparta was also swept off their feet
and when the team ran up against something of their own class, they made a poor showing. They got going towards the end of the scrimmage, however, and scored two touchdowns, though only after the hardest kind of straight football was played. Feinberg was forced to punt four times and the team was held three times after they had worked
the ball down to within striking distance of the seconds' goal.
Puckett's Minnesota shift worked for the first time last night, first down being gained twice by means of runs and three passes being pulled off to Shick, Evans and Lyden for big gains.
Cautious Horne would not let Captain Roget get into scrimmage last night, believing that "Wallie" cannot be rested too much. It is now thought unlikely that he will start the game next Saturday, although it is more than probable that he will get into the game. Promises for a record crowd are good, the tickets which were put on sale yesterday going like hotcakes.

ragged. Reber, Groft and Reedy are in poor condition and will not play against Missouri unless they show unexpected improvement.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Minnesota's contribution to the list of their presumptives to the heavyweight crown is going to spread his case before a Milwaukee jury tonight. Massive Fred Fulton is the man and his claims will be disputed by Andre Anderson of Chicago.

Fulton is a two to one favorite on Anderson, the odds by which Fulton's admirers rank him with all the others who claim to have a hankering to face Champion Jess Willard.
The battle at Milwaukee tonight is a big test for both men. An unsatisfactory newspaper decision for Fulton would blight him for a long time and tend to make the fans forget the terrific walloping he administered to Arthur Pelkey recently.

Both men showed a lot of their stuff at local gyms and if each puts all he has into the scrap it ought to be a hummer.

Ad Wolgast, who fights Jimmy Murphy tonight at Yeoman hall in the second show of the Kannia A. C., may meet Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of the world, at Denver on Christmas, according to his manager, Larry Lichtenstein, who arrived in La Crosse this morning from Chicago to be in Ad's corner
tonight.

"Negotiations have been in progress for a month," said Lichtenstein
today, discussing the dicker. "Wolgast has agreed to take a gamble
with the promoters and guarantee Welsh $15,000 for the chance to meet him. Welsh will not fight for a smaller figure. The weight would be 135 pounds at 3 o'clock. Wolgast thinks that he can come back against the man who took the crown from Willie Ritchie, who before had won the lightweight title from him."

Joe Welling, another of Lichtenstein's stars, well known to La Crosse fans through fights here, was unable to accompany Lichtenstein here, because of an engagement at a Chicago theater in vaudeville with Packey McFarland. Joe had planned to be in Ad's corner.

Al Martin and Tommy Krieg, who meet in the semi-final, were expected here on early trains today, as well as Jabber Jung, who fights Packey Nolan in the opener.

The principals in the show were
to have weighed in at the Safford & Ross buffet at 3 o'clock today.

La Crosse was invaded today by a veritable army of fans from the surrounding towns here to attend the show.

Matchmaker W. L. Kannia is unable to attend. He was stricken with stomach trouble a few days ago and is at present bedridden at his home in Appleton. In a message to a Chicago President Fred W. Harris last night
he apprised the club of his inability to attend.

WAR IS PROLONGED BY AMERICAN AMMUNITION SAYS GERMAN GENERAL

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
BERLIN, Oct. 27, (By mail.)—Another German offensive on the western front towards Paris is not out of the question. A year ago General von Kluck's army was threatening the French capital. Today it is still the nearest to Paris, but the German offensive centers in the Balkans. Later it may be at the Suez canal or in Egypt. By spring perhaps it will have returned to the well-plowed battle line in France and Belgium.

I talked with General von Kluck today concerning the whole war situation. He was at his Wilmsdorf villa. His walk was firm, his thinking clear and spontaneous. From appearances he has recovered fully from the seven shrapnel wounds he received six months ago.

"General, I asked, 'how will the war last?'"
"We were walking in his garden, and he stopped to reply: 'As long as England is able to fight and as long as America sends ammunition, the war will continue. The unsuccessful French and English offensive this month was a question of ammunition. This war has developed into an ammunition contest. It is the world's markets against the central powers.'"

"Can the western line be broken?"
"Disappointed With Roosevelt."
"You see in the papers every day," said the general, "that the allies are trying to break our line, but they don't succeed. During their first October offensive they lost 180,000 men. We lost about a fifth as many. Do you think any army can afford such losses to win a mile of land?"
The general's five-year old daughter accompanied us on our walk. She clutched her grandfather's hand and frequently interrupted the conversation with remarks concerning the general's pet black dog, Teddy.

"Which is our popular name for one of our ex-presidents," I remarked.

"You mean Roosevelt?" said the general. "I thought he was a great man. He was a good president, wasn't he? But today I can't understand why he takes such a determined stand against Germany. Surely no other American president or statesman ever tried so hard to make his country go to war. I am glad he has not succeeded. I have many very good friends in America—many I do not know. At the beginning of the war I received hundreds of letters from America. And still they come. I know personally a few of your army officers. They are fine men. This week I had a letter from one of them, asking me for a photograph of an ammunition contest. It is the world's markets against the central powers."

SHELL MACHINERY PLANT HAS STRIKE

Madison Factory Working on War Orders Runs Into Labor Troubles

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—About 150 employees of the Steine Turret Machine company have gone on a strike. The union men declare they were locked out. Others declare they acted on their own initiative. Following are the demands which have been made upon the company:

An eight hour day.
Time and a half for overtime.
Double time for Sundays.
In the event that these demands are not acquiesced in union officials say that a general strike will be called. Pickets have already been placed on duty.

"We will not stop running," said George A. Steine today. "I am a machinist myself and will keep the factory going if I have to work alone." It is said here that the company was working on war orders and that this is the busiest season of the year. Turret machines used to manufacture shells are being made at the rate of about twelve a month. The recent fires at the Bethlehem steel works destroyed about thirty of these machines manufactured by the Steine company and it is necessary to replace these, besides keep up with the regular work.

ANNUAL GAME PLANNED

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Hamilton Fish, Jr. who captained the All-Stars in last Saturday's game against Rutgers today was interesting college men in a plan to stage an annual Thanksgiving day game at the Polo grounds between the best of the college coaches and the best eastern football team of the year.

IF THEY AREN'T TOO LONG

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—German newspapers will be required wherever practicable to print the full text of the allies' official war reports, the German embassy announced today.

and a statement for some army publication. I sent both and hope they reach him."

Here we were interrupted by an orderly, who, saluting, said the little girl was wanted in the house.

"Good-bye, my darling," said the general, adding to me, "she is the daughter of my son who was killed in France, January 28."

"Does the Serbian campaign bring the war any nearer to an end?" I asked presently.

"The war's duration depends on how long the English are able to fight and on American ammunition," repeated the general. "There is no doubt that American ammunition is prolonging it. And now the allies are raising an enormous loan in the United States. I see no end to fighting yet."

"Shall you return to the front?" I inquired.

"That depends on his majesty," said the general. "But I is my impression that it depends on whether or not the general staff decides on another drive to Paris."

He is Reticent
"Why," I asked, "did the Germans fail to capture Paris?"

"The French maintain," said von Kluck, "that it was Joffre's strategy. When the war is over we can discuss that, but not during the war."

"One of Marshal von Hindenburg's officers told me," I remarked, "that it was because the Russian invasion of East Prussia called so many men from the west."

The general's reply I am not permitted to give, but I left with the idea that this, in his opinion, was the correct explanation.

General von Kluck does not look his 65 years, and reminds one of General Wood, except that he seems to have ample supply of patience. He fought in 1866 against Austria and in the French-Prussian war was twice wounded.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

"Whys" of Moves in European War

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The sudden and unexpected development in the Balkans to which Premier Asquith has mysteriously attributed Lord Kitchener's journey to the east, is now revealing itself as a revealing itself as a resolve on the part of King Constantine to intern Anglo-French troops that might enter into Greek territory from the Serbian and Bulgarian fronts.

There seems no longer any doubt but that the disquieting attitude on the part of the Athenian monarch is seriously handicapping the allies' military movements. Until all doubt is cleared away concerning the reliability of Greek benevolence toward the western allies, much danger would attend the development of a major-French offensive, with Greece as a permanent base. Constantine's desires, however, are logical and it will require very severe pressure in all probability to compel him to change his policy.

The king has consented to the landing of Anglo-French troops at Salonika, for the purpose of proceeding into Serbia and Bulgaria. But Constantine does not want Greece to become a battlefield. Apparently, therefore, he has served notice to all belligerents that if they carry the fighting into Greek territory, they will be interned. This policy is comprehensible, but it cannot suit the allies.

Constantine's attitude, while logical and understandable, is not practical. It is the outcome of the inevitable tendency of near eastern politicians to become unprincipled and to try to run alternately with the hares and the hounds. The presence of Anglo-French troops on Greek soil is desired because Greece fears could not be resisted. At the same time, the Greeks want to keep out of the war if they can. Therefore, while Constantine is willing for the western allies to land troops at Salonika and thus prevent Bulgarian

SUBSTITUTE FOR PALZER PLEASES ST. PAUL CROWD

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 17.—Although Tommy Gibbons easily outpointed Harry Greb of Pittsburgh at the Auditorium here last night, fight fans were not discussing this event today. Everyone was talking about a little shock headed fighter, named Clemons, who made Farmer Lodge, touted as the man who was going to whip Al Palzer, look like a whipped dog. Clemons stepped through the ropes as a substitute for Palzer, who was ill with a touch of pneumonia. Lodge lasted five rounds and then quit cold, leaving the ring to the hoots and catcalls of a disgusted crowd.

There were two fast preliminary bouts staged by Bobby Ward who went to a draw with Johnny Cashill and Johnny Ray, who went to a draw with Tommy Durkin.

BADGER STUDENTS AFTER BILL JUNEAU

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 17.—Bill Juneau will sing his swan song as coach for the Wisconsin eleven this year. This was the feeling among the students today. Names of prominent football men were being mentioned as successors to Juneau. Reports that the coach and Captain Buck clashed in a fist fight following the Illinois game last Saturday were branded as false by both Buck and Juneau today.

YALE DRILLED HARD

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 17.—The Yale varsity was drilled today to make a better showing than yesterday against the scrubs, who went through the line for touchdowns, using Harvard tactics. The coaches figure two or three days' moderate practice against Houghton methods will put Eli in fine trim for Saturday's game.

SCALPERS BALKED

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 17.—Scalpers from Chicago had a hard time of it today endeavoring to get tickets here for the Chicago-Illinois game at Chicago Saturday. University officials are keeping tabs on tickets and already have frustrated attempts to buy blocks of seats.

BURNS BEATS PAPPAS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 17.—Bobby Burns, the Dallas bantamweight, had a little the better of Jimmy Pappas, a lightweight Grecian citizen, in their eight round scrap last night at the Future Athletic club. Burns was too shifty for Pappas and played hard for the body.

DUFFY BEATS COFFEY

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Jimmy Duffy of Lockport won over Jim Coffey on a foul in the seventh round at the Broadway Sporting club last night.

initiating an attack against Greece, yet he reserves the right to intern these same troops if, despite their efforts, the war is carried into Greece. If Constantine can maintain this policy to the end, he must take rank with Europe's greatest diplomats.

CABINET DISCUSSES MEANS TO COMBAT ALIEN ACTIVITIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Possible amendments to the Sherman anti-trust law, which might bear upon conspiracies to prevent shipment of goods from this country abroad or other conspiracies operating in restraint of legitimate trade were discussed by the cabinet today. Attorney General Gregory brought up the discussion as an outgrowth of a report submitted by him on his department's work on bomb plots, violations of neutrality and kindred subjects. The attorney general believes the government laws at the present time are not adequate to handle situations such as have developed during the European war.

PHILIPP SEES SHOW

SPARTA POSTOFFICE ALMOST FINISHED

Contractors Expect to Have Government Building Ready for Inspection December Tenth

SPARTA, Wis., Nov. 16.—(Special.)—It is expected that the new postoffice building now near completion, will be ready for the final inspection by the tenth of December, over three and a half months before the company's time expires. The work is progressing at a good speed and the interior is nearly done. The wiring connections have been made, and the completion of the cement driveway at the rear, which has been held up for several weeks, will now go forward. The reason for the delay was the lack of the chipped granite which is used in the cement. A shipment of this was received yesterday and the rest will be put in directly.

If the building is completed by the tenth, there will be plenty of time for the change from old to new building and for the officials to become familiar with their new quarters.

DISTILLERY BUILDINGS BEGUN

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 17.—New distillery buildings were started today in Sausalito village, across the bay. The one-horse distillery of former days, which made a malt whiskey well known locally for years, has gone out of that moderately profitable business and is making a real fortune manufacturing denatured alcohol for use in high-explosive shells for the allies.

In Treating Tuberculosis

It should be remembered that one of the aids to relief is found in abundance of fresh air—day and night—the largest possible freedom from over-exertion and well-cooked, pure food.

Attention to these should do much toward arresting the progress of the malady, but in many cases there is need for extra help. Where Nature has to work with a weakened body her power is limited. Before she can do her most, there must be a return to normality of functions.

Under such circumstances, try Eckman's Alternative, which has been used with large benefit by many sufferers from tuberculosis. In numerous cases it has helped to bring about recovery.

And since it contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, its use is not attended with danger. Sold by Geo. E. Mariner, Chas. E. Reyschlag and leading druggists. Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia

WAR ODDITIES

LONDON.—The government has authorized a complete set of movie films depicting "war time" life in the British navy.

LONDON.—Stately butler to aristocratic master in London's west end: "A Zeppelin's passing hover, sir, if you wish to inspect it, sir." The Zeppelin was hurriedly "inspected."

PARIS.—A wounded soldier fell from a tramcar at the Quai des Tuilleries and the wheels passed over one leg, producing splinters but no blood. He had lost his real leg in the battle of the Marne.

CHACABE, Eng.—The local "war time" view is his own organism, verger, bellringer and grave digger.

GALLIPOLI.—Australian soldiers in a certain trench when seeking amusement at night fill tin biscuit boxes with stones and roll them down an incline toward the Turks who always open a furious fusillade.

Some men are pleasant to talk to and disagreeable to listen to.

THEY REFUSE TO EAT

At periods in most children's lives they fail to relish their meals and refuse to eat even the delicacies prepared to tempt their appetites. They lack ambition, and growth seems impeded, which causes anxiety and worry.

To compel them to eat is a grave mistake, because nutrition is impaired. Healthful exercise in fresh air and sunshine is important, but equally important is a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion three times a day to feed the tissues and furnish food-energy to improve their blood, aid nutrition and sharpen their appetites.

The highly concentrated medicinal food in Scott's Emulsion supplies the very elements children need to build up their strength. They relish Scott's—it is free from alcohol.

JULES NOT DEAD

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—A returned traveler reports that "Jules," (M. Ansaldo), premier of New York and London head waiters who went to war for France a year ago and has been reported to Broadway as dead many times since is not dead, but is a very much alive lieutenant in the Chasseurs a Cheval, Eighteenth regiment; and that he wears upon his uniform the French war medal.
